Earthquake is the deadly enemy of mankind. Earthquake strikes all without a distinction of nationality or political affiliation. The power of a quake is greater than that of any man-made weapon of destruction. An earthquake strikes mankind without a warning. A modern city when struck is reduced to a rubble. A quake strikes plains, seas and mountains causing all round destruction. The quake struck Lisbon in 1755 killing 450; Peru in 1970 killing 50,000 Alaska in 1968 moving it 80 feet into the Pacific ocean. Scientists are trying to find out means to combat earthquakes and they are able to predict atleast where the earth quake will hit so that precaution can be taken to save man and property from destruction. As the number of words in the rough draft is more than required we shall have to reduce it. Further without reducing the ideas.

Reading skills have dominated the English Language learning situation in India. The main reason for this is that opens avenues of knowledge for all disciplines of study by giving access to books and journals. Proficiency in reading contributes to one’s intellectual development.

Apart from helping one gain academic excellence, reading introduces many to a world of thought and fancy. It widens their horizon and gives them an edge over others in social and professional settings. Another advantage of reading is that it exposes readers to good style and rich vocabulary, which have a positive impact on communicative competence. For an alert reader, it is a natural way of assimilating language use and usage.

20. Read the following passage and answer the questions give below:

Up to the time of the illness that took away my sight and hearing, I lived with my father and mother in a tiny house. It had one large square room and another smaller one in which the servant slept. The house was completely covered with roses and other climbing plants, the favourite home of birds and bees. The beginning of my life was simple and much the same as every other little life. I came, I saw, I conquered, as the first baby in the family always does. There was the usual amount of talk about a name for me. At last my mother's advice was accepted and I was called Helen. These happy days did not last long. One short spring, musical with the song of birds, one summer rich in fruit and roses, one autumn of red and gold passed by and left their gifts at the feet of an eager and delighted child. Then in the gloomy month of February 1882, came the illness which closed my eyes and ears and I sank into a state of unconsciousness. The doctor thought that I could not live, but early one morning I became conscious again. My family celebrated that morning, but no one, Not even the doctor, knew that I would never see or hear again. Then she came - my teacher, Ann Sullivan – and she set my spirit free.

- (a) Describe Helen Keller's house.
- (b) What is the meaning of 'I came, I saw, I conquered as the first baby in the family always does'?
- (c) How does Helen describe the seasons?
- (d) How was her sickness felt at home?

Prayerful Chandra Roy was bom on 2 August, 1861 in the district of Jessore now in Bangladesh, close to the birth place of Madhusudan Dutt, widely regarded as the Milton of Bengal. It was the best of times and the worst. The British had by now perfected their role as masters and British values permeated the Indian upper classes to the very last detail like table manners. That, of course, was not the worst of the British influence. What was far more demeaning to the educated Indians – and these were several – was the fact that senior government positions were closed to them. Being forfeited of one's right in one's land to birth would become the rallying point for the Indian intelligentsia in the years to come.

Ray's father Harish Chandra Ray, a man of learning and taste, was closely associated with the cultural and intellectual leaders of the time and exerted great influence on his son. Ray had his early schooling in the village school founded by his father but soon his father shifted to Calcutta and at the age of nine, little prafullast eyes for the first time, on the bustling city that would be his home for many years to come. He was filled with wonder as the ever changing sights and sounds – the city seemed to change moods ever so often ! His formal schooling was interrupted due to illness but that did not affect his education.

- (a) Jessore is a district in _____
